THE IRISH KEYNOTE SOUNDED BY REDMOND AT CHICAGO.

Fitzgerald puts the limit to the Celtic hatred of the Saxon-John Finerty. Celtic Up a Little Division at the Close—The Resolutions Adopted by the Irish League Convention—Officers Elected and Adjourned sine die.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—This evening a large convention of the Irish League of America met at the Hotel Hamilton. The Irish League of America, which was organized in 1886, has been the most successful of the Irish organizations in this country. It has a membership of over 100,000 and has been instrumental in securing the repeal of the Irish Land Act of 1885. The convention was called to order by John Finerty, president of the league. He made a long and stirring speech, in which he declared that the Irish people were no longer to be ruled by strangers. He said that the Irish people were to be free, and that they were to be free by the sword if necessary. He then read the resolutions adopted by the convention, which were as follows:

Resolved, That the Irish people are no longer to be ruled by strangers. They are to be free, and they are to be free by the sword if necessary.

Resolved, That the Irish people are to be free, and they are to be free by the sword if necessary.

Resolved, That the Irish people are to be free, and they are to be free by the sword if necessary.

The convention then adjourned sine die.

THE CASE OF MR. STOCKLACHER.

Does His Candidacy for Office Conflict with a Civil Service Order.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Mr. Stocklacher, assistant commissioner of the general land office, has been nominated for congress in the Indiana district. He is a member of the civil service commission, and his nomination has caused much discussion. The civil service commission has a rule that no member of the commission can be a member of congress. Mr. Stocklacher has been asked to resign his position in the civil service commission if he is elected to congress. He has refused to do so, and has said that he will continue to serve in the civil service commission while he is a member of congress. This has caused much discussion, and it is now being decided whether or not the civil service commission has the right to require a member of the commission to resign if he is elected to congress.

—A Racine man has patented a machine for blocking boots.

—The next great show will be the Rock county fair. Remember and attend it.

—Judge Patten, of the municipal court is suffering with a severe attack of the "hay fever."

—The city was very quiet yesterday and last night considering the great crowd of people in the street.

—The day after the circus—and compared with the lively times of yesterday, the city is very dull and quiet.

—Book River Enamusement No. 3, I. O. O. F., assemble in regular semi-monthly meeting this evening at Odd Fellows hall.

—The Deloit Free Press, of last evening, publishes the names of eighty-six ladies and gentlemen who bought tickets for Jansville yesterday morning.

—Oliver Branch Lodge No. 26, A. O. U. W., assemble in regular semi-monthly session this evening, lodge room in the Lappin block, East Milwaukee street.

—Grading will be commenced at the Evansville end of the "cut off" the first of next week, and work on the line will be well under way by the first of September.

—Street car No. 4 yesterday carried two hundred passengers up Milwaukee street hill to the fair grounds at one time. There were four horses pulling the car.

People's Lodge No. 400, Independent Order of Good Templars, assemble in regular weekly session this evening—lodge room in the Court street M. E. church block.

—City Treasurer Murphy reports business unusually active, and tax receipts are being rapidly exchanged for coin and currency. The small tax-payers, as a rule, are the most prompt in discharging their obligations with the city.

—The news of the conviction of the Chicago anarchists was received in this city at one o'clock, and when it became known that six of the murderers were to be hanged, there was general rejoicing among all law and order classes.

—Mrs. E. E. Morgan wishes to announce that her dress making rooms will be closed for about two weeks, after Saturday the 21st inst. She will spend a little time in Milwaukee visiting with friends and expects to return to the city about the fourth of September.

—It may be interesting to know that the Rock Band Concert Co. is composed of Mr. Daniel Tull's sons and daughters. They exhibit and perform upon the Rock harmonica. See lithographs every where. Entertainment in Leppin's hall, Sept. 6.

—Mr. Le Roy Holloway, received a dispatch to-day, announcing the serious illness of his father who resides at Hinsdale, Michigan. Mr. Holloway left at noon. His father is an old man and was colonel of a regiment during the late war.

—The street railway company will have two more open cars, like No. 4, and three closed cars, similar to Nos. 1 and 2, here for service at the county fair. There will be no more track laying this fall, the completion of the line to the cemeteries will be postponed until next season.

—It seems that the police captured most of the crooks yesterday. We hear of no other depredations than those mentioned in the Gazette of last evening, with the exception of the till-tapping at the Commercial house, which occurred late in the evening.

—The Deloit Free Press—Fifty tickets were sold for the 8:45 train for Jansville on the St. Paul road this morning, and 75 on the two Northwestern trains for Jansville, the 7:30 and the 12:37. Nearly every living in the city went to Jansville and the crowd is going to-night on the 6:35, judging from reports.

—Last evening between nine and ten o'clock, a till-tapper, in the absence of the bar tender at the Commercial house, succeeded in opening the money drawer with a chisel, and secured a small sum of money. The thief was captured by the bar-tender and turned over to the police. The money was secured.

—Mr. J. L. Ford, the popular west side merchant tailor, is now prepared for the fall campaign of 1896. His stock of fall goods, both foreign and domestic, is complete, and his prices unusually low. He also has a very fine line of gent's furnishing goods. Call and examine the stock, and leave your order for a suit.

—A large crowd of people congregated at the St. Paul depot last night after the circus performance was concluded, to witness the loading of the circus paraphernalia upon the cars. Quite a number of curious people remained at the depot until the circus train pulled out for Madison, which was after one o'clock this morning.

—A suggestion has been made that a very inexpensive and at the same time highly interesting attraction of our country fair would be an old settlers' cabin. This seems to be rather the rage at fairs this year. Each old settler brings a log and the cabin is thus erected on the grounds, with appropriate reminiscences. Each old settler's log has his name cut in it, with the date of his birth.

—There is some complaint to-day on the part of ticket holders to the Barnum show where the tickets were issued on account of lithograph privileges, that in some instances the tickets were refused at the door last evening, on the claim that the lithographs had been torn down, and the contract violated. This claim in some cases was not true; and why the management should pursue such a course is an unsolved problem.

—Captain Newman, of the Jansville Guards, made application to the governor to have the Guards excused from attending the annual encampment of the First regiment at Waterville next week, owing to the fact that a large number of the members are engaged in business, and that considerable time had already been lost by them during the Milwaukee riot. Yesterday afternoon, Captain Newman received an answer from the governor, declining to grant the request. Captain Newman, therefore, requests all members of the Guards, who can possibly go into camp, to be ready to leave on Monday next.

—The 12,000 people assembled under the Barnum canvas yesterday afternoon, is a flattering comment on the result of advertising. Barnum's success is due to two things; first, thorough advertising, and second, always giving his patrons the worth of their money. These two rules might be profitably adopted by every business man. If you have a business depending on public patronage, let the public know it in some way, and don't be afraid that too many people will find it out. After you have gained public attention advertising has done its part, the secret of holding public attention is found in courteous treatment, and a reputation for always giving one hundred cents worth of goods for a dollar. The Gazette is a good medium for supplying the first half of the compact and any good business man can furnish the last half.

BARNUM'S FAREWELL.

The latest exhibition of the Great Show to Jansville.

The crowd attending the exhibition of the Barnum show last evening was not one quarter as large as at the performance in the afternoon, owing no doubt to the fact that the people did not wish to walk to the fair grounds and back, the distance from many residence sections of the city being over a mile and a half. The omnibuses, hacks, and street cars had a good business all day, but they could not accommodate and transport one-twentieth of the vast crowd of people who were desired to go to the fair grounds. The exhibition was a repetition of the one given in the afternoon, and pleased the large audience. The managers of the show were well satisfied with the patronage of the people in this vicinity; the press agent assuring us that the crowd in attendance at the afternoon exhibition was larger than that at Rockford or Freeport. The great show is at Madison to-day, and at Waterville to-morrow.

Persons.

—Mrs. M. G. Smith, of St. Louis, is the guest of Hon. Hiram Merrill's family, third ward.

—Miss Bell Chase, of Milwaukee, is in the city, the guest of her friend, Miss Millie Chittenden, of the first ward.

—Prof. J. M. Smith, leader of Barr Robbins' circus band, arrived home yesterday, and to the best of health. He will not return to the show this season. Prof. Smith reports the show as doing a good business.

—Mr. C. M. Scanlon, who now holds a position in the United States treasury department at Washington, arrived home last evening, on tonight until September. His Jansville friends are glad to meet him.

—J. T. Clark, general superintendent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway; A. J. Earling, assistant superintendent, and S. J. Collins, division superintendent, all of the same railway, passed through the city to-day for Mineral Point and the west upon business of the railway company.

—Mr. J. C. Murray, the contractor who has had charge of the construction of the Jansville street railway, expects to go to Ohio next week for the purpose of building a street railway similar to the one just completed here. He is also bidding for the grading of the Evansville "cut-off." Mr. Murray, during his short stay in Jansville, has made many personal friends all of whom will wish him success in whatever field he may be called.

—The Rev. Lyman Whiting, D. D., of South Williamstown, Mass., arrived in the city and is the guest of A. A. Jackson, Esq., Washington street. Dr. Whiting, for a number of years, was the popular pastor of the Congregational church of this city, and while here thoroughly established himself in the confidence and esteem of the whole community. It will afford our people great pleasure to learn that Dr. Whiting will occupy the pulpit of the Congregational church next Sunday morning.

The Ward Caucuses.

The following gentlemen compose the ward committees of this city, whose duty it is to call ward caucuses to elect delegates to the county and sectional conventions. The county convention will be held on Thursday, September 24, and the sectional convention on Tuesday, September 24.

First Ward—James Shearer, S. P. Hoskins, E. G. Harlow.

Second Ward—O. F. Nowlan, J. G. Saxe, Ouse, Myler.

Third Ward—C. H. Lea, Ed. F. Carpenter, James Ethers.

Fourth Ward—E. J. Green, Adam Sanmer, M. M. Conant.

Fifth Ward—Q. O. Sutherland, N. E. Bennett, J. G. Wray.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 66 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with southeast wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 92 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with southeast wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 57 and 84 degrees above zero.

A Kink Opportunity.

I offer for sale, the best livery stable in southern Wisconsin, with all the appointments of a first class livery business. Well sold the barn and real estate with the stock and business, on very favorable terms, or will sell the stock and furnishings, and rent the barn for a term of years. The business is a prosperous one and paying one, and the owner can give good reasons for making the change. It is a grand opening for a live man. For terms, call or address

O. E. BOWLES.

MEMORIAL CONVENTION.

A republican memorial convention will be held at the court house in Jansville, Wis., on Wednesday next at one o'clock p. m. to nominate a state senator to be supported at the coming election. Each town and ward will be entitled to the same number of delegates as the county convention for electing county officers.

GUILTY OF MURDER!

SEVEN ANARCHISTS MUST HANG.

And One Goes to the Penitentiary for 15 Years.

Special to the Gazette.

Chicago, 2:00 p. m., Aug., 20.—The jury in the anarchist case were charged by Judge Gary yesterday afternoon and at 2:30 retired. It took them just five hours to agree, but the court had adjourned when a verdict was reached. This morning at 10 o'clock, the jury filed into the court room which was strongly guarded by police. The verdict was then given.

Spies, Parsons, Lingg, Fielder, Schwebel, Engel and Wisner were found guilty of murder as charged, and the sentence was hanging. In the case of Oscar Nubbe a verdict of fifteen years in prison was rendered.

This ends the first chapter in the most important trial which ever commanded the attention of any court in the United States. State Attorney Grinnell, in his closing argument very truthfully said: "The law itself is on trial, government is on trial, and well it is for the sake of wholesome law and for the protection of good government, that the jury in this world renowned case, have had the courage to stand by their honest convictions and render an impartial verdict. Whether the sentences as rendered is executed or not, the fact remains that in the verdict the majesty of law is vindicated, and the red hand of anarchy has no longer a place in our free land. All honor to the able prosecution and the honest jury in defending the law against lawlessness."

The Search Hinder.

A month has passed since the perpetration of the double murder, which sent two old people into eternity without a moment's warning. A crime which caused the whole community to shudder on account of its dastardly character and appalling results. Time, the great healer of all woes, is gradually but surely erasing from the public mind the startling tragedy which came upon us like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky, on the morning of July 19; and the cloud which enveloped the dead when first discovered, is simply being intensified by the lapse of time. Every theory advanced as to the motive which prompted the act, and every suspicion which has clouded the character of suspected parties, thus far lacks any evidence of proof, or any development of importance. The chances are that the public will never know who committed the crime or what motive prompted it. Money was evidently not the sole object, as that could have been readily obtained without murder. It is possible that when the deed is forgotten or so nearly so as to fail to excite interest, that the old adage "Murder will out" may come true. This seems to be about the only hope of discovery.

The New Bridge Opened to the Public.

The new bridge across Rock river at North Fourth street was so near completed at noon to-day that the committee considered it safe to throw it open for public travel. At half-past one o'clock, Mr. J. H. Gately, with one of his heavy wagons loaded with ice, the team and load weighing in the neighborhood of 10,000 pounds, drove onto the bridge at a rapid rate, for the purpose of testing its strength. At the same time one of the wagons drawing lumber for the box factory of Messrs. Thoroughgood & Co., drove on with a heavy load at the west end. The combined weight must have been over 12,000 pounds. There was very little trembling noticed on the bridge, indicating that it was capable of withstanding any strain which will be put upon it. The approaches at the east and west ends will be completed this evening, and the bridge will then be ready for the public, and will be as substantial as any bridge in the city. The building of this bridge has been under the personal superintendence of Messrs. John Thoroughgood and J. H. Gately, who have spared no time in seeing that the work and the material put upon the structure has been first class. The bridge will bear the closest inspection, not a weak point will be detected. Its extreme length, including the planking at the approaches, is 400 feet. Solid stone masonry has been put in at the approaches for the timbers to rest upon, and to hold the earthfilling in place. Owing to a lot of extra work which was found necessary after the work on the bridge was commenced, the bridge has cost a greater sum than was estimated, and the committee are therefore a little short of funds.

The bridge will be found a great convenience to the public, especially to the residents of the first and second wards, and the travel over it is claimed will be equal to that at North street bridge.

Great credit is due to Messrs. Thoroughgood and Gately for the personal interest they have taken in the construction of this bridge, as no doubt it would be a difficult matter to find two other men in the city who would have been willing to undertake the construction and have pushed it to such a satisfactory completion.

Huron marsh is fairly alive with waterfowl. That report is true. In the dead winter when wood teams are coming and going. One farmer estimated that the hay is being carried off at the rate of 100 tons per day. Farmers through Huron and for twenty miles from the east end of the marsh are busy harvesting and hauling away the crop. They work in parties, some of whom sleep on the marsh so as to be there ready to cut grass early in the morning.

Mr. Briggs, of Grand Rapids, says that 700 claims have already been filed against the St. Paul railroad company for damages to the forest land in the Huron marsh, and he doubts not but that a proportionately large number have been filed against the Wisconsin Central. One reason why Mr. Briggs believes the net losses of timber will not be as large as has been estimated is the fact that all forest fires, except those of extraordinary volume and ferocity, there is always a considerable salvage when the woodsmen get to clearing up.

Hans E. Lea, of Eau Claire, has invented a wind motor which promises to eclipse the celebrated "Early motor." By Lea's contrivance wind is not only applied in the propelling of machinery, but its momentary power is utilized in a two-fold manner. The advantage of the new contrivance is most apparent when applied to boats, where, by its peculiar construction it will not only propel the boat but perform all the offices of a sail, over which it has an important advantage, in that it may be lowered at a moment's warning. The inventor feels confident that his wind engine is designed to get to the front, and says he has at ready received liberal offers from parties desiring to obtain the exclusive right to the "new idea."

A REMARKABLE FEMALE SURGEON.

Graduating at the Age of Twenty-Six. She Goes to Egypt.

The death is announced in Cebu China of Miss Dr. Roberts, a female surgeon of remarkable skill, and whose career was very extraordinary, an experience that no other woman has ever had. Beginning as a waitress in a little drinking shop of the Quai de la Seine, she passed while still very young, through the usual experiences of a Parisian girl, and became connected with a medical student who frequented the shop. Her interest was irresistible. No sooner did she come in contact with his books and instruments than she fell upon them, and literally devoured his knowledge that continued. She availed herself of his teachings, too, and drew from him everything in her power, so that by the time she had reached the age of 20 she presented herself for examination as surgeon, and passed the ordeal brilliantly and triumphantly.

She soon recognized the field that lay open before her in the Egyptian harem, to which male surgeons were not admitted, and where women suffered unspeakable tortures for the lack of proper attendance. At Cairo she specialized in the study of gynecology, and had a prospect of doing well, but her habits of dissection had been formed early, and became rooted and were unchangeable.

Her career of vice ended finally in an Egyptian madhouse, and her sufferings in that terrible place were so great as to exhaust her strength. After six months of this severe but salutary regimen she recovered her mind, but never forgave her heartless and cruel captors. Leaving the madhouse and leavely thrust her out of sight and mind into the horrors of an insane asylum.

Her career in Egypt was over, but she could not return to Europe, and nothing was left her but to devote her energies
